QAnon's rude awakening | Inauguration rumors | Bias debate

QAnon's rude awakening

For adherents of the collective conspiratorial delusion called QAnon, Inauguration was all part of the plan — until the plan fell apart.

Note: If you know someone who is or was embroiled in the QAnon belief system, it is vital to be compassionate and to understand how their false beliefs may have been meeting important psychological needs.

- "Increasingly militant 'Parler refugees' and anxious QAnon adherents prep for doomsday" (Ben Collins, NBC News).

Discuss: What about the QAnon conspiracy is so compelling? In what ways are conspiracy theories self-perpetuating? Why is it often impossible to prove a conspiracy theory wrong to its most ardent believers?

Resource: "Conspiratorial Thinking" (NLP's Checkology® virtual classroom).

NO: President Joe Biden's administration is not affiliated with the "antifa" (anti-fascism) movement. YES: The URL "antifa.com" began redirecting traffic to the White House homepage (whitehouse.gov) on Inauguration Day. NO: This is not evidence of any relationship between the antifa movement and the White House. YES: Anyone can purchase a web domain and redirect it to any other website they choose. YES: Prior to redirecting to whitehouse.gov, the site was redirecting to Biden's presidential campaign website. YES: The antifa.com web domain has been intermittently active since at least 1999 and, as these search results from the Internet Archive's Wayback Machine show, it was for sale as recently as Jan. 30, 2020.

Note: There is a similar URL redirect hoax at loser.com, which began forwarding its web traffic to the Wikipedia page for former President Donald Trump on Nov. 9, 2020.

Related: "Antifa.com redirects to White House website as trolls needle Biden" (Stephen Shankland, CNET).

★ Featured rumor resource: These classroom-ready slides lead students through a "digital forensics" investigation of the antifa.com domain using the Internet Archive's Wayback Machine.

Don't get duped. Just learn to verify.

Verification can be intimidating, but it is not difficult. Being good at verification is mostly about repetition, persistence, and using digital investigation tools with a little creativity. There are so many verification tricks and tools available now, in fact, that the hardest part might be remembering all of the resources at your disposal.

Lie Detectors has adapted its format to distance-learning to respond to the coronavirus pandemic. Our new format prompts children and adults to fact-check corona-related social media posts. It's accessible for all children regardless of digital connectedness. At the end of every module, we create virtual classroom visits during which pupils ask our journalists questions on news literacy and fact checking at this critical time. Feedback has been extremely positive and we are gathering findings to inform our work as schools adapt. To find out more or participate in our corona-adapted programme, see here.

The image shows a screenshot of the 'Levanta la Cabeza' website. The top navigation bar includes the 'ATRESMEDIA' logo, a search icon, and several menu items: 'Mejores ciudades de Europa por su movilidad', 'Aquitania' Premio Planeta 2020, 'App para tomar la decisión correcta', 'El síndrome de Woody Allen', and 'Ver más'. Below the navigation bar is a large banner image of three people looking at their smartphones. On the left side of the banner is the 'LEVANTA LA CABEZA' logo, which features a stylized head profile with a red dot on the forehead. On the right side of the banner is the Santander logo and a set of social media icons (Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, Email). Below the banner is a navigation menu with the following items: 'Líneas de Acción', 'Iniciativas', 'Recursos', 'Actualidad', 'Comité de expertos', and 'Aula Virtual'. The main content area features a large portrait of Gemma Galdon. Overlaid on the right side of her portrait is the text: 'Gemma Galdon: "Un algoritmo puede decidir que te den un trabajo o no"'. Below this headline is a short bio: 'Experta en ética y tecnología, dirige una organización que corrige los errores algorítmicos y valora el impacto social de los proyectos con inteligencia artificial'.

Welcome to 'Is This Legit?' a new series where the MediaWise Teen Fact-Checking Network works to debunk viral claims being shared on YouTube, plus teach some digital media literacy skills you can use on your own. There's a lot of misinformation out there, so we'll tackle a little bit of everything! Politics to pop culture. Coronavirus to conspiracy theories. But mainly, we want to fact-check claims that make us wonder: Is this legit?
